

During the COVID-19 pandemic, Blackhawk Aerospace Composites is OPEN while doing our part.

During this time of uncertainty due to COVID-19, we want to be transparent about our plans to ensure you'll continue to receive support and product from Blackhawk Aerospace Composites. We also want to safeguard our communities, our employees and their families by doing our part and following the guidelines from local, state and federal sectors.

Although Kentucky Gov. Andy Beshear signed an executive order closing all non-life-sustaining businesses to in-person traffic, Blackhawk Aerospace Composites is covered under the federal critical infrastructure sector and will remain OPEN at this time. We are continuing to monitor the situation to minimize risk and avoid disruption in production. If this changes, we will communicate quickly with impacted customers.

The health and safety of our employees and their families, customers, partners and communities is of highest importance. We have changed the way "business as usual" looks in this evolving situation and updated procedures to minimize risks for everyone.

Travel: We have implemented a guideline for the postponement of any business travel.

Visitors: While we normally have visitors to our facilities, this is now limited to critical situations only.

Employees: We are working hard to protect the wellbeing of our employees. Employees who can work from home are doing so. For positions that require employees to be on-site, they are working a modified schedule to ensure minimal contact and ensure social distancing. Blackhawk employees have been reminded of good hygiene practices such as hand washing, as well as provided cloth masks. All employees in our facility have access to essential items such as hand sanitizers and disinfectant hand soaps.

Cleaning: We have increased the frequency of cleaning in our offices and high-traffic areas with emphasis on frequently touched surfaces such as doorknobs, light switches, work surfaces etc.

We greatly appreciate all our employees, the work they do and our customers for entrusting us with their business needs. We will be working diligently to minimize any disruptions.

Thank you for your continued confidence and support.

Sincerely,

Kaylah West
General Manager | Blackhawk Aerospace Composites
M +1 (270) 999 1709 | E kaylah.west@blackhawk.aero